The nepo edge

To answer that question, one N.B.A. executive told me, you probably have to look at the economy of basketball development. The children of pros are generally wealthy and well connected; they have access to "better training, coaching, and the right people who can put them on the right lists," the executive said. "Those early edges accumulate." Increasingly, players are made as much as they

Date: 2025-06-28 Words: 5

Time to read: 1 min

Newer Older

4 Jul 2025

Change your form

22 Jun 2025

The Midlands is, however, beco...

Russell © 2022-2025

Tags Archive RSS feed

Made with Montaigne and bigmission